REDISTRIBUTION BILL DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT

A Bitter Fight Over Some Constituencies Is Probable.

(Bulletin Special Dispatch).
Ottawa, September 9.—The redistribution bill was under discussion today. There was no disagreement between the parties on the committee regarding any province except Ontario and one constituency in Nova Scotia. In Ontario the committee was agreed as to thirty-nine constituencies, but the fight as to the remainder bids fair to be bitter. The loss of several constituencies to the province makes most of the trouble. This bill was expected to be the most contentious of the whole session.

LABOR DAY ADDRESS

On Labor Unionism Delivered on the Exhibition Grounds Monday.

The following is a verbatim report of the speech delivered by Frank W. Crang, M.D., Strathcona, at the Trades and Labor celebration in Edmonton on Monday, Sept. 7th:

Gentlemen of the Trades and Labor Council, Union Men and Friends:

I esteem it one of the grandest privileges imaginable to be able to stand up here and speak to you on a topic of labor and trades unionism. Personally, I was born, bred and reared in an atmosphere of trades unionism and as far as I can see now, I intend to die a member thereof. When I quit the trade of brick-laying some nine years ago to take up the study of medicine, I thought I was leaving unionism behind me for ever. Instead of that I have since found out to my surprise that I was just entering what I consider to be the strongest union in existence in Canada today, and that is the medical union, or Medical Council as we call it. We have as you know, a medical council, druggists' council, dentists' council, and even in Toronto they have gone so far now as to have formed an embalmers' and undertakers' council. Practically speaking though they are identical one and the same thing as a trades union. We meet, enact our laws, elect our officers, and endeavor exactly the same as you endeavor (and as a good many hear will no doubt bear me out in saying if they have had any medical attendance) to keep up our schedule of prices. We have our walking delegates or pickets out all the time constantly looking after our own interests, and should any scab doctor invade our jurisdiction he is quickly brought before the magistrate, fined and forced to leave our part of the territory. As yet though, we have not succeeded in reducing our hours of labor.

Probably the first semblance of union formation or coming together of men that we have any record of, was that which occurred in the year 1348, the year of the Black Death or Black Plague in England, whereby, as you know, about one half of the laboring population was cut off by death. The other half, therefore, labor being scarce, undertook to ask for a raise in wages and their request met with this startling result. The magistrates or owners of the land or those in authority over them, met and passed a law called the Statute of Laborers, which provided that (1) No laboring man had the right to ask for higher wages. (2) No laborer had the right to go from one town to another seeking to better his condition. (3) Any laborer so doing, if caught, was to be branded with the letter F on his forehead. This condition of affairs could not last very long, so we are not surprised to read twenty-five years later, of a large uprising of 40,000 laborers, who marched to London and petitioned the king to redress their grievances. That their grievances were redressed we learn by another statute passed about fifty years later, called a law against the extravagance of dress of laborers. It appears that laborers were getting high wages and squandering most of it on their wearing apparel, and this law was to curtail the cost of their attire.

From that time to this, capital and labor have been constantly coming in contact, meeting, touching, rebounding in fact, spurring for an opening the whole time. Capital getting in a black eye at labor, and labor retaliating with an uppercut at capital and occasionally both of them clinching and fighting it out to a prolonged finish or an arbitration draw.

It seems to me that in the past capital has been saying to labor "We have all the intellect," and labor has answered this by saying, "We have all the strength." Again capital has been saying, "You must be subservient to, or be dictated to by us," and labor again answers, saying, "Our necks have never yet bent beneath any capitalistic yoke and we don't intend to bow them now." Again capital says, "We have all the wealth," and labor answers this with a growl, saying, "Who made it for you?" One thing is certain. Capital cannot do without labor, and labor cannot do without capital. They are mutually dependent the one on the other. But still the petty warfare of strike goes on.

Personally I believe that a strike is occasionally as much a necessity as a labor union is a necessity, but I still further believe that ninety-five per cent of our present strikes can be averted by arbitration. I do not believe you arbitrate properly. I do not believe you get the proper men on your arbitration committees, and I don't believe you can understand the word arbitration properly until it begins to touch your own pockets. The idea of getting a financier or a farmer to arbitrate a plumbers' strike. What do they know about a vent, a T or U trap, its purpose and value? And yet this sort of thing is done every day. I tell you, gentlemen, you need to get men who have some time or another been in your own avocation or calling, to represent you on your arbitration committees, and those men are to be found scattered in every community. For instance, in my own case I served my apprenticeship with three other apprentices and the first one after learning his trade, went into storekeeping, the second and third entered the medical profession, and the fourth, you will no doubt be surprised to learn, became a Baptist minister. Now, gentlemen, those are the type of men to represent you on your boards of arbitration, for they can size up the situation, and knowing the ins and outs of your own avocation, they can proceed to drive home the arguments in your favor and I am sure you will win out in 95 out of every hundred cases of threatened strike.

Surrounding your own district here you have one of the grandest God-given territories it has ever befallen the lot of human beings to occupy. Stretching, extending, widening away out to where the horizon meets the sea, are of the firmament, and farther, are to be found miles upon miles of prairie land, miles upon miles of pasture land, miles upon miles of hilly and mountainous territory, redounded with streams, rivers, lakes and lagoons, and teeming with fish and fowl; while deep down in the bowels of the earth we find layer upon layer of all those things that are necessary for the making, uplifting, upbuilding and upholding of this the greatest civilized centre in the Dominion of Canada. Commencing at our deepest layer, we find a beautiful granite formation, a granite that can be used for buttresses and piers and corner stones, or also in the erection of the parliament buildings, which at your present rate of progress, you will no doubt want to erect here in a few years to come. On top of this you have a layer of minerals, and on top of this you have a layer of coal, above the coal sandstone, and above this again clay, also marl, which is used for making Portland cement and is to be found, so I am told, in your immediate vicinity. Still higher we have gravel and sand and two feet of that dusky, dark, loamy soil, capable of supporting almost phenomenal growth. Topping this you have some of the most beautiful timber limits to be found any place. Besides this you have the water power, and if you wish to probe still further, into our resources you can go deep down into the bowels of the earth, where you will find oils and gases of all descriptions that are ready waiting to be harnessed to any enterprise to which you may wish to put them. And now, gentlemen, it does not need a master mind to look into the future and see the ultimate outcome of these resources. I, for one, can see in the near future springing from these, the granite workers, mineral workers, coal miners' stone cutters, brick makers, cement workers, teamsters, gas workers, and and dozens of other unions, centralized here in your Trades and Labor Council. And now comes the crucial time in your unions, for the great tendency is to ask for an increase in wages and then to agitate a strike. This is what I want to warn you against, because capital will not come where there is a constant labor agitation going on. I believe that British Columbia is today suffering from the constant, ceaseless and unending variety of strike after strike that has been going on there. You know as well as I do that within the last six years or more, you could not pick up a newspaper, but what you would find accounts of a strike at Roseland, strike at Fernie, strike at Kamloops, or Canmore, or some other outlandish named place, and I don't wonder at any capitalist getting sick and disgusted with the whole proceedings and drawing his money out of it and investing it some place else. You can see yourself how even little Calgary has suffered this year by the labor trouble going on there. And yet how was it settled eventually? Why simply by arbitration. Now, if it could be settled by arbitration finally, why could it not be settled at arbitration?

A Short Talk About Clothing!

In Men's Clothing as well as all other lines of merchandise there are different grades and values. The clothing of twenty years ago cannot be compared with that which is made today, the style, finish and general make up is much better in every respect and prices are more moderate.

The ready-made suit of today is as highly finished as any Tailor can turn out and perhaps better.

But when we say higher we don't mean price. The clothing we handle is the best obtainable in the Canadian market.

We have seven different maker's goods in our stock, but when it comes to the finish and wearing qualities we recommend our "PICCADILLY" suits in every case.

Our Stout Men's Suits should be of interest to every man that is in the stout order.

LABOR DAY ADDRESS

first? I tell you it could be settled at first if they would only get the proper men and men of their own calling on as arbitrators. With all these unions forming you want capital to come here, and I can assure you positively that no capital will come where there is constant turmoil and strife in labor circles. Let them see that there is a spirit of arbitration among the men and they will come and come gladly. And now once more I ask you in the interest of your town, in the interest of your district, in the interest of your country, when labor disagreements arise to arbitrate first, and then strike, but do not, if it can possibly be avoided, rush into a strike and then arbitrate afterwards.
In regard to the hours of labor, I might say that I was very pleased to learn that you had succeeded in reducing the hours of labor this year in Edmonton and I hope the good work will go on. I have worked the 12 hours, 10 hours, 9 hours and 8 hours a day, and I can assure you that there is no such fair day's work both to employer and employee, as the eight-hour day.

ANOTHER RAILWAY FOR EDMONTON

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 5.—On returning Saturday from Seattle, where he had a consultation with Great Northern officials, Premier McBride said the Great Northern was prepared to carry out a big railway program without bonus. Mr. Hill wants to invade the wheatfields and also to get connections with the Grand Trunk of the Pacific. He already has control of the charter of the Vancouver, Westminster and Yukon line, which is surveyed through Cariboo. It is said Mr. Hill's system will take up chartered territory granted to the Kootenay, Cariboo and Pacific railway. These proposed Central line from the southeast corner of the province through Fort Steele to Golden; and from thence by the most convenient route to Port Simpson or Bute Inlet.
This line would afford the shortest route by which Mr. Hill could connect the western wheat fields of the United States and Canada with the Orient by making Port Simpson or a point near there, either on the Canadian or United States side, the terminus of the Oriental line.
The line projected from the coast northwesterly in the direction of Queneau would cross this about Tete Jaune Cache, where a feasible route exists through Yellow Head pass in a direct line to Edmonton.

These lines would connect with both the Canadian transcontinental railways and the Great Northern and Northern Pacific systems in the United States.

LINE OF STEAM BOATS

Will Be Put on the Saskatchewan River Next Spring.

Captain F. W. Coates and R. J. Mosher, who have had a long experience in navigating Rainy River, Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods, with headquarters at Fort Frances, Northern Ontario, have been in Edmonton the past few days. They have recently sold out their interests on those lakes, and these two gentlemen, with Captain Robert Mosher and Mr. G. Neal, have organized a company to place a line of steamers on the Saskatchewan between Edmonton and Prince Albert. These gentlemen have had a line of boats doing a passenger and freight traffic on Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods. Some of their steamers were, the side-wheeler Monarch, 150 feet long; Highland Maid, a propeller; Chieftain, Mohican, City of Alberta and several others. These gentlemen are not exploiters, but are men who have made a success of their steamboat business in Northern Ontario. They sold out their business there as the Canadian Northern railway taps that district and absorbs a great deal of the business formerly carried on by this steamboat line. The company have large, machine shops at Fort Frances and construct their own boats.

Messrs. Coates and Mosher left yesterday by river for Prince Albert and if they find everything satisfactory, Mr. Coates will go directly to Toronto, order the machinery, and have a large steamboat built at Prince Albert this winter for river navigation in the spring. As the trade develops, a line of steamers both for passengers and freight, will be put on the river, operating both from Edmonton and Prince Albert. If in the course of their present trip down the river they discover any obstacle in the river which would tend to make navigation impossible, then the steamers will operate from Edmonton only. The reason for building at Prince Albert is that it is nearer their present headquarters, the Canadian Northern running to within twenty miles of there at present. Capt. Coates and his partners own a sawmill at Fort Frances and they will have their lumber shipped to them from there.

The gentlemen interested are, F. W. Coates, captain and engineer; Capt. Robert Mosher, R. J. Mosher and Geo. Neal, engineer. These men mean business and there seems to be little doubt but that the Saskatchewan from Edmonton to Prince Albert will be extensively navigated next year.

CANADA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The contract for the erection of Canada's pavilion was awarded to John J. Dunnivant & Co., the contract price being $28,000. The building will be 100 feet square and surrounded by porticoes. It will have two stories. The architect is L. Fennings Taylor, of Ottawa, Ont. The building must be completed by December 1st. A permit for the erection of the structure was issued this afternoon by director of works Taylor, and Mr. Dunnivant says he will commence work next week. The Canadian reservation is about half way between the Agricultural building and the forestry, fish and game building. The handsome pavilion which is to be the Commissioner General Hutchinson's official home on the World's Fair grounds next year and which will serve as a club house for Canadian visitors to the exposition, will stand southwest of and close to the big floral clock on the northern slope of Agriculture Hill. The building will face the avenue which runs north and south in front of the Administration building and extends to the Agriculture building.

John J. Dunnivant and Company have built two of the exposition's big exhibit palaces—Education and Manufactures—and they also put up the Press building.
